Keeping Everlastingly At It Brings Success

INTRODUCTION

This useful book, now in its sixty-second year, appears under a revised name, more clearly defining its contents, and as you will note, in a binding modern in design and attractive in color. Each year we receive many unsolicited letters from leading business houses, publishers, librarians, and others, testifying to the value of the information which this book contains. It has been called the key to the increasingly important publishing industry.

From the first edition of our DIRECTORY, which listed 5411 publications, the number increased until, in 1917, it reached 24,868. Then came the years during and after the World War when conditions made it difficult for the small publisher to remain in business. Mergers, consolidations and suspensions decreased the number of publications yearly with the exception of the years 1924, 1927 and 1929.

The present edition lists 22,269 publications, a decrease of 350 over last year. This decrease is largely due to the continuing policy of consolidating and merging. These consolidations have resulted in producing, for the most part, publications of greater stability, better quality and larger circulation.

Publications established within the year 1929 are not listed in this edition. Long experience has proven that many publications are of short duration, consequently, we think it wise to include only those well established. Several hundred new publications, both newspapers and trade papers, established during the past year, are on file in the Editorial Office and those of merit will be listed with revised data in the July Supplement.

All data used in the preparation of this Directory of Newspapers and Periodicals has been obtained from the most reliable sources known to us. We have endeavored to make the information as detailed, accurate and helpful as possible. In order that the greatest value may be derived from its application, we have prepared a brief summary of the contents, to be found in the following pages.

GENERAL CATALOG

MAPS.—The maps have been revised to date. Maps of the larger and more thickly settled states and provinces are divided into two, three and four double-page sections, thus doing away with the confusion from maps drawn on too small a scale. To each of these divided maps in the United States, we have added a double-page map of the whole state, for convenient reference when it is desired to have the whole of the state in view. Practically every newspaper town listed in the DIRECTORY may be found on a map, each town being indexed so that it may be readily located if reference to it is desired. The reference follows the name of the town, as (G 5), the letter referring to the vertical, the figure to the horizontal divisions. Where maps are in two or more parts, the index figures and letters refer to the sectional maps, not to the complete map of the state. Some interesting miscellaneous maps will be found preceding the Catalog, such as a map of the World, a map of Europe; Economic Standard Time, and Population maps of the United States and Canada; and an Airway and Airport map of the United States.

POPULATION.—The population figures used for the United States and possessions are those of the 1920 census, except for Florida, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, New York, North Dakota, Rhode Island, South Dakota and Wyoming, which are from a State Census, made in each of those states in 1925. The figures for the Philippines are from the reports of the census of 1918. Those of Canada are from the 1921 census. Any unusual increase in a town population that is brought to our attention will be investigated. Upon receipt of authentic information as to the reason for the increase, mention will be made to this effect in the town heading, but the population figures will not be changed until a new census is taken.

On page 17 will be found a population table of all towns and cities listed in the DIRECTORY which have 2,500 inhabitants and upward, arranged alphabetically by states and by groups in each state as follows: Towns of from 2,500 to 5,000, 5,000 to 10,000, 10,000 to 25,000, 25,000 to 50,000, 50,000 to 100,000 and 100,000 or more. On page 32 will be found a list of the one hundred largest cities in the United States as shown in the Government Estimate for 1928. Also a list of the eleven cities in Canada which had more than 50,000 population in 1921.

STATE HEADINGS.—The state headings have been carefully revised from the latest authentic information procurable. Population, Agricultural, Mineral, Industrial, Newspaper and County statistics are given in a brief and consistent style.

TOWN HEADINGS.—These headings give revised and accurate information concerning the nature of the inhabitants; the railroad, banking and telephone facilities; the leading industries; natural resources; important institutions; the characteristics of the immediate vicinity and some facts concerning the residential features. In order to conserve space, mention of telephone, express and banking facilities will be made only when these facilities are in some town other than the one described.

ALPHABETICAL ARRANGEMENT.—Publications are listed in alphabetical order by their distinctive names. The word "The," if used, appears after the name; the words Morning, Evening, Weekly, Monthly, or other words indicating period of issue, are ignored. Thus the Boston Evening Transcript is listed under Boston only as Transcript. In some cases where the publication pertains to a state, section or city, the name of the state, section or city is used.

PUBLICATIONS.—Following the name of the publication is found mat service; the language, if the publication is printed in a foreign language, with the exception of a few Outlying Territories where the publications are printed in Spanish or French, in which case mention of the language is made directly below the Territory heading; the issue; class or politics; establishment date; size; subscription price; circulation; names of the Editor and Publisher, and street address of the Publication Office. It is our intention to list all newspapers in the town in which they circulate. For this reason the address of the Publication Office may differ from the town in which the paper is listed.

SUB-EDITIONS.—We endeavor as far as possible to distinguish between independent publications and those which are simply reprints of some other paper, usually with little or no change beyond the name. Papers so issued are entered in the Catalog under the name of the leading paper, or, in some cases, that of the publisher. Under the place of apparent publication the name of the sub-edition is given, with a reference to the paper or house issuing it.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE.—It is impossible in the limited space available, to give accurately the many variations in the subscription prices of daily papers in the larger cities. The rates given are the rates to local subscribers and include delivery by carrier or news agents. Differences in this price must be expected for mail delivery in postal zones other than the one in which the paper is published.

PUBLICATIONS EXCLUDED.—In accordance with our usual custom we have left out several hundred publications which are of no apparent value to the general advertiser or to the public. Among them are those issued by private and high schools, the smaller colleges, local church papers, papers issued by business houses primarily for the exploitation of their own goods, and generally known as "house organs," and publications issued by institutions, unless they have an influence outside of the particular one by which they are published. Publications established within the year 1929 are also omitted. Information concerning them is on record in the editorial department for reference. These papers, providing they meet the necessary rquirements for listing, will appear in July Supplement.

CIRCULATION

Because of our desire to give actual circulations for the benefit of those referring to this DIRECTORY we require that all statements sent to us for publication shall be made in accordance with our definition of circulation. The statements should cover a period of six months or more immediately preceding the date of the DIRECTORY for which they are made. An exception to this is in the case of the sworn statements made by daily papers for the Post Office Department or the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

This is our definition of circulation, whether the rating be certified, based on the publisher's statement or estimated.

This definition appears on all blanks we send out for circulation figures and no figures, sworn or otherwise, will be printed as publishers' statements unless made in accordance therewith.

Left over, unsold, returned and file copies, never having reached a possible reader, cannot be considered as part of the circulation. Sample copies are excluded because there is, as a rule, no method of ascertaining the percentage which reach actual readers. Exchanges are usually cut up in the office to which they are sent, which terminates their usefulness. Advertisers' copies may be read, in some cases, but the great majority are simply checked for the advertisement concerned, and either filed or thrown away.

Before we adopted this definition, each publisher included in his statements such papers as suited his fancy. Some gave the total number printed, some the "complete and perfect copies," some deducted their returns, while others gave the number of papers actually sold. These last were at a considerable disadvantage when compared with those who included ten to fifteen per cent of uncirculated copies.

The word "Average" as we use it must not be misunderstood. By "Average" we mean that number which usually fills the needs of the mailing lists and street and news-stand sales. We do not desire the average circulation obtained by adding extra editions to the regular edition, as this produces an average that is misleading.

Ratings are not increased, as a rule, except upon receipt of satisfactory signed statements. Every publisher, without exception, is furnished each year a statement blank and a stamped envelope, and thus given an opportunity to present his own figures and other particulars. Publishers have no reasonable ground for complaint if in the absence of statements the ratings or descriptions given appear unsatisfactory to them.

SWORN STATEMENTS.—All ratings from sworn statements are printed in bold face type. A double dagger (‡) indicates the publisher's claim unsupported by either affidavit or detailed statement. Our own estimates are set in plain figures and unmarked.

A. B. C. STATEMENTS.—Many publishers, members of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, justly holding that the sworn statements made regularly for that organization should be sufficient to comply with all requests for circulation statements, have referred us to their A. B. C. statements. Circulation figures from such statements are printed in bold face type, as all are sworn to, and are accompanied by a (★) showing that the figures are those of a sworn statement made for the Audit Bureau of Circulations. Only the total net paid figures are given in every case.

In a few cases, where a publisher has especially requested it, the figures are from an A. B. C. auditor's report. They are marked "A.B.C." Audit," and, as with the statements only the total net paid figures are shown.

The rules of the Audit Bureau of Circulations require that the date shall be given whenever circulation figures are credited to an A. B. C. statement. Therefore, in the DIRECTORY, all figures credited to A. B. C. statements or audits cover, for daily papers, a period ending September 30, 1929, and for weekly or monthly periodicals a period ending June 30, 1929. This is because all but a few of the A. B. C. statements received in time for the DIRECTORY are for these periods. Lack of space, especially in the lists, prevents our printing the dates along with the figures.

Members of the Audit Bureau of Circulations are sometimes not designated as such in the DIRECTORY. This only occurs when a consolidation takes place after the September 30th or June 30th Publisher's Statement has been made. In this case we do not consider the A. B. C. statement authentic and as we do not print an A. B. C. statement of a later date we are unable to list the paper as a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

ESTIMATED RATINGS.—We endeavor to have all estimated circulation ratings as nearly accurate as our information will permit, without either favor or intentional injustice to any publication. When a publisher fails to submit a statement or other evidence, we base our estimate of his circulation on previous statements which have stood without question, or on such other presumably authentic information as we may have. Such an estimate means that the publication has, so far as our records indicate, at least the number given, while it may have more. Although we try to have all estimates as fair as possible, yet the fact that we have to estimate indicates, as a rule, that our information is old or indefinite, and we would suggest that before concluding important matters with publications having estimated ratings it would be well to request an up-to-date statement of circulation.

A statement covering the full period on our blanks will, if properly signed by the publisher or some responsible person for him, ordinarily entitle the paper to a rating in accordance therewith, unless contradictory statements or other evidence call for other action. We say ordinarily, because we do not regard the mere rendering of such a statement as incontestable proof of its correctness, and there have been instances where such a statement, even when sworn to, could not be accepted in the face of positive information to the contrary; but we believe that such cases are few, and as a rule a statement covering the required period, properly signed, is accepted as prima facie evidence of its reliability. In this connection we may say that while the greater part of the circulation ratings are based upon statements sent us by the publishers, and the publishers alone are responsible for them, we use our best endeavors to obtain statements showing actual circulation and we do not print figures if we have reason to doubt their substantial accuracy.

Although the greater number of circulation ratings are determined when the bulk of the statements are received, earlier in the year, we are willing to revise the figures until the tenth of October, if by that time acceptable statements are received by the editor of the ANNUAL AND DIRECTORY.

Papers which are believed to decline general advertising are indicated in the Catalog by the abbreviated form "No adv." in the circulation column.

Circulation ratings are omitted in the following instances:—When the paper has been established during the current year, when the information received is indefinite, contradictory or otherwise unsatisfactory, when experience or reliable information creates a doubt as to the accuracy of the figures sent us, when more recent information indicates that statements, made earlier in the year, do not represent present conditions, or where publishers have requested omission, in which case the word "Decline" is printed in the circulation column.

LISTS

DAILY NEWSPAPERS.—Following the General Catalog is a list of all the daily newspapers listed in the DIRECTORY, which are issued continuously throughout the year. All papers are marked so that the morning and evening are readily distinguished as well as those having weekly and Sunday editions.

DAILY NEWSPAPER ROTOGRAVURE SUPPLEMENTS.—A list of all papers listed in the ANNUAL that have Rotogravure Supplements. They are arranged according to state, town and title. The size and circulation of each are also given.

SUNDAY WEEKLIES.—A list of all weekly papers listed in the DIRECTORY that are published on Sunday and are not Sunday editions of daily papers.

COOPERATIVE NEWSPAPERS.—Lists of country papers affiliated with the Western Newspaper Union and other Newspaper Associations in the United States and Canada.

NEWSPAPER FEATURE SYNDICATES.—An up-to-date list of Newspaper Syndicates with the class of service and the address of each.

AGRICULTURAL PUBLICATIONS.—A list of publications dealing with the various phases of agriculture and horticulture. The publications have been grouped according to classification and also according to states. The place of publication, the issue and the circulation are given.

COLLEGIATE PUBLICATIONS.—A list of all publications published by colleges or students connected with a college. The issue, classification and circulation are given.

FRATERNAL ORGANIZATIONS.—A list of publications that are in any way connected with fraternal or secret societies. The papers are arranged in alphabetical order by society, state, town and paper. The place of publication, the issue and the circulation are given.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE PUBLICATIONS.—A list of publications which are printed partly or wholly in a foreign language. The papers are arranged in alphabetical order by language, state, town and paper. The place of publication, the issue and the circulation are given.

MAGAZINES OF GENERAL CIRCULATION.—A list of publications that are of general interest to some particular class or to the general public. They are not trade or technical publications and for this reason have been classified separately.

RELIGIOUS PUBLICATIONS.—All publications of a religious nature that are printed in the DIRECTORY will be found in this list together with the class, issue, place of publication and circulation.

TRADE, TECHNICAL AND CLASS PUBLICATIONS.—The Classified Index which will be found on pages 1476 to 1483 has been carefully revised. This index not only contains the main classifications of the Trade, Technical and Class Lists but many cross-references. Reference to this Index will save time in locating the publication under consideration. All of the Trade, Technical and Class Publications listed in the DIRECTORY have been grouped according to their predominating subject and then arranged alphabetically by state, town and title. The publications listed in the Fraternal and Sports lists have also been grouped under sub-heads according to the various fields covered.

AN ALPHABETICAL INDEX.—A list of all the publications listed in this DIRECTORY, with the exception of regular newspapers, arranged in alphabetical order by name and place of publication.

We wish to express our appreciation for the valuable information and kind assistance given us by the Department of Agriculture, the Census Bureau, the Bureau of Insular Affairs, and the Department of Commerce of the United States; the Census and Statistics Office of Canada, the Department of Mines and the Fisheries Branch of the Naval Service of Canada; the National and many local Chambers of Commerce, Commercial Clubs and Boards of Trade; and the publishers, whose promptness and cooperation have materially contributed to the quality of our Directory. Revision is under way for the 1931 edition and we should be glad to receive, as soon as possible, notification of any changes in publications or any inaccuracies in this edition. Information of this nature should be addressed to the DIRECTORY Editorial Department.

POSTAL INFORMATION

DOMESTIC MAIL MATTER

Domestic rates and conditions apply to matter deposited in the mails for local delivery, or for transmission from one place to another in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Porto Rico, the Virgin Islands of the United States, the Philippines, Guam, Tutuila, Manua and other islands of the Samoan group east of longitude 171° west of Greenwich, the Canal Zone, United States naval vessels and to officers and men in the United States Naval Hospital at Yokohama, Japan.

SECOND-CLASS, periodical publications.

THIRD-CLASS, merchandise, printed matter and other mailable matter not included in the first and second classes, and not exceeding eight ounces in weight.

FOURTH-CLASS (PARCEL POST), merchandise, printed matter and all other mailable matter not included in the above classes and weighing over eight ounces.

RATES. ON FIRST-CLASS MATTER.

Postal cards. Postal cards are furnished at the postal value represented by the stamp; single cards for domestic correspondence 1 cent; double cards 2 cents; single cards for foreign correspondence 2 cents, double 4 cents. Government Postal Cards may bear any written or printed communication on the back and also on the left third of the face when the face is divided by a vertical line, approximately one-third of the width from the left edge. The right two-thirds of the face must be reserved for the address. If any matter other than the address is pasted or otherwise attached to a postal card, it will subject the card to the letter rate, or, if the card and the attached matter are wholly in printing, it will be treated as third-class matter. The initial half of a double postal card should be detached before the reply is mailed. The reply half of an international postal card, when mailed to the country which issued the card, is considered prepaid, and may be mailed without affixing additional postage stamps.

Post Cards (private mailing cards). Post cards manufactured by private persons which conform to the government requirements are transmissible at the rate of 1 cent each. Advertisements and illustrations may appear on the back of the card and on the left half of the face.

AIR MAIL.

The rate of postage on matter carried by airplane, regardless of distance, is five cents for the first ounce and ten cents for each additional ounce or fraction of an ounce regardless of distance, except when sent to Porto Rico or the Canal Zone. The rate between Porto Rico and the United States is ten cents for each half ounce or fraction of a half ounce and between the United States or Porto Rico and the Canal Zone it is twenty-five cents for each half ounce or fraction thereof.

Any mailable matter, except that liable to freezing, may be sent by air mail at the above rate, including sealed parcels not exceeding fifty pounds in weight or eighty-four inches in length and girth combined.

Special air-mail stamps are issued but ordinary stamps may be used. The use of air-mail stamps on other than air mail is not permissible. Air mail should be conspicuously marked in the space below the stamps "Via Air Mail."

Insured and C. O. D. parcels may be sent by airplane. The limit of weight, size and rates of postage will be the same as for other mail sent by airplane.

SECOND-CLASS MATTER includes newspapers and periodicals bearing notice of entry as second-class matter. No limit of weight is prescribed. (For zone rates, which apply to publishers only, see local postmasters.) The rate of postage on newspapers and periodical publications of the second-class, when sent unsealed by the public, that is, by others than the publisher or news agent, is one cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof up to eight ounces, being computed on each separately addressed copy or package of unaddressed copies. If over eight ounces, it becomes subject to fourth-class rates. To be considered second-class matter, the copies must be complete. Incomplete copies are third-class matter. On the wrapper, or on the copy, besides the address to which it is sent, there may be written or printed the name and address of the sender, preceded by th word "From"; the words "sample copy" or "marked copy" or both, corrections of typographical errors and marks (not words) calling attention to words or passages in the text. Any other writing will subject the package to letter rates.

THIRD-CLASS MATTER is subject to postage at the rate of one and a half cents for each two ounces, or fraction thereof, on each singly addressed piece or package. The limit of weight is eight ounces. It includes all mailable matter not included in the first and second classes, such as circulars; periodicals not admitted to the second-class; proof sheets; corrected proofs; manuscript copy when accompanied by printers' proofs thereof, reproductions by mechanical processes of written or typewritten matter, when mailed in a minimum number of 20 identical copies at a place designated by the postmaster; reading matter in raised type for the blind; calendars; sheet music; engravings; photographs; blue prints; newspaper clippings, with name, date and address of the paper stamped or written thereon; maps; lithographs; insurance applications and legal blanks mainly in print, and miscellaneous mailable matter weighing not more than eight ounces. If over eight ounces, it becomes fourth-class matter. Exceptions: Books, catalogs, seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, scions and plants are one cent for two ounces or fraction of two ounces up to eight ounces.

The only permissible writings on third-class matter, other than that mentioned above, are the name and address of the sender, preceded by the word "From"; marks (not words) calling attention to particular words or passages in the text, such inscriptions as "Merry Christmas," "Do not open until Christmas," "Dear Sir," "With best wishes," etc. Also upon photographs or other matter there may be written a simple manuscript dedication not in the nature of personal correspondence. There may be enclosed with third-class matter a card bearing the written name and address of the sender, a single order blank, mainly printed, a coin card, a post card or an envelope for reply.

When it is desired to send a personal communication with a package of third-class matter, a letter, prepaid at first-class rates, may be attached securely to the outside of the package, the latter being fully prepaid at third-class rates; and both will be delivered together. The envelope must be attached in such a manner as not to interfere with the address on the package and must bear the same address, so that, if separated, both may be delivered. Samples of merchandise may be attached to printed matter provided such samples cover less than 20 per cent of the space.

FOURTH-CLASS MATTER (PARCEL POST) includes merchandise, books, catalogs, farm and manufactured products, and all other mailable matter weighing more than eight ounces and not included in the first or second classes. All packages must be so wrapped, tied or enclosed that the contents may be easily examined by the postal officials. When sealed or enclosed in such a manner that the contents cannot be so inspected, they will be treated as first-class matter. Boxes may have the lids nailed or screwed, provided they may be readily removed with a chisel or screwdriver for examination of the contents. All coverings should be sufficiently strong and secure to withstand the pressure and friction inevitable in the frequent handlings and changes of transportation to which postal matter is subjected, and also to prevent injury to other mail matter. The sender's name and address must appear on each package.

Parcels for delivery by the post office within whose limits they are mailed, or by any letter carrier of that office, or on any rural route starting from that office, five cents for the first pound, and one cent for each additional two pounds or fraction thereof.

Rates of postage on fourth-class matter delivered outside of the limits of the post office where mailed are charged by the pound, and an additional charge of two cents on each parcel, except those collected on rural delivery routes. The following rates include the two cents additional charge.

Zones	One Pound	Each Additional Pound
1st zone— up to 50 miles	7 cents*	1 cent
2nd zone— 50 to 150 miles	7 cents*	1 cent
3rd zone— 150 to 300 miles	8 cents	2 cents
4th zone— 300 to 600 miles	8 cents	4 cents
5th zone— 600 to 1000 miles	9 cents	6 cents
6th zone—1000 to 1400 miles	10 cents	8 cents
7th zone—1400 to 1800 miles	12 cents	10 cents
8th zone—over 1800 miles	13 cents	12 cents

The eighth zone rate applies to all parcels between the United States and the Hawaiian Islands, the Canal Zone, Alaska, the Philippine Islands, Guam, Tutuila, the Samoan Group east of longitude 171° West, other possessions of the United States, and United States war vessels stationed in foreign waters, also between any two post offices in Alaska. This rate also applies to all fourth-class matter mailed to Cuba.

Weight Limits. Seventy pounds for parcels mailed for delivery by the post office where mailed or within the first, second and third zones, and fifty pounds in all other zones. Parcels must exceed eight ounces in weight or they will be considered third-class matter. The 50-pound limit applies to parcels for Manila, Philippine Islands, but parcels for Ilvilo, Cebu and Zamboanga may not exceed 44 pounds, while parcels for other places in those islands may not exceed 20 pounds.

Size Limits. Parcels must not measure more than 84 inches in length and girth combined.

Inclosures. There may be enclosed with fourth-class matter a written or printed invoice showing the name and address of the sender and of the addressee, with name, quantity, price, size, style, and quality of the articles contained, date of order and date and manner of shipment and the name of the salesman or packer, and printed matter descriptive of the articles it accompanies.

The rules as to permissible writing on or in fourth-class packages and personal communications attached thereto are the same as for third-class matter.

Place of Mailing. Parcels of fourth-class matter must be mailed at a post office, branch post office or station or delivered to a rural or other carrier duly authorized to receive such matter. Fourth-class matter cannot be mailed at railway post office cars.

Insurance. Domestic third- and fourth-class matter may be insured against loss or damage by a fee, payable in postage stamps affixed to the parcel, for an amount equal to its actual value, up to $5.00 for five cents, $25.00 for eight cents, $50.00 for ten cents and $100.00 for twenty-five cents in addition to the postage.

C. O. D. Fees. Domestic third- and fourth-class packages may be sent C. O. D. and the price of the article and the charges will be collected from the addressee for a fee of twelve cents when the amount to be collected does not exceed $10.00; fifteen cents when the amount does not exceed $50.00, and for twenty-five cents when the amount does not exceed $100.00. This fee also covers insurance on such parcels up to the value $10.00, $50.00 and $100.00 respectively.

*Parcels mailed for delivery in the first or second zones, are, when the distance by the shortest regular mail routes is 300 miles or more, charged at third zone rates, eight cents for the first two pounds and two cents for each additional pound or fraction thereof.

Special Handling. Parcels to be given special handling will be charged with the regular fourth-class rates and the two cent service charge and ten cents additional postage on parcels weighing not more than two pounds, fifteen cents on parcels weighing more than two pounds and not exceeding ten pounds, twenty cents for those exceeding ten pounds, all to be fully prepaid by stamps affixed. They should be clearly marked by the sender, "Special Handling," in the space immediately below the stamps and above the address. This will entitle such parcels to receive the same handling, transportation and delivery as first-class matter.

Special Delivery. Special delivery fees on parcel post matter are fifteen cents for parcels up to two pounds weight; twenty-five cents if over two pounds and not more than ten pounds, and thirty-five cents if over ten pounds.

INTERNATIONAL POSTAL SERVICE

Articles addressed for delivery in Canada, Cuba, Mexico and the Republic of Panama are subject, with certain exceptions, to the same rates and conditions as if they were addressed for delivery in the United States.

Letters. Generally five cents for the first ounce and three cents for each additional ounce or fraction thereof. To some countries the domestic rate of two cents an ounce or fraction thereof applies.

Postal Cards. Generally three cents for single cards. Each half of a double card must be fully prepaid the rate applicable to a single card.

Printed Matter. One cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof.

Commercial Papers. One cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof with minimum charge of five cents.

Registration Fee. Fifteen cents.

Merchandise. Packages weighing eight ounces or less for Canada, Cuba, Mexico, Newfoundland and Panama, one and one-half cents for each two ounces or fraction thereof. Packages like the above consisting of seeds, scions, plants, cuttings, bulbs and roots, one cent each ounce or fraction thereof. This is not parcel post and must not have a customs declaration attached.

International Parcel Post. Fourteen cents a pound or fraction thereof. Limits—length, 3½ feet; length and girth combined, 6 feet. For exceptions, restrictions, etc., see postmasters.

POPULATION

POPULATION OF THE UNITED STATES

Continental United States 120,013,000 Total United States 133,836,000

(U. S. Census Bureau Estimate, July 1, 1928)

Cities, towns and villages of the United States, Canada, Bermuda, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Haiti and West Indies, arranged by states and provinces in alphabetical order and sub-divided into groups in each state and province according to the number of inhabitants, from 2,500 upward. The Census Bureau classes as urban those places which have a population of 2,500 or more. Places with less than 2,500 are classed as rural.

The populations in the table are taken from the United States Census of 1920, the State Censuses of 1925 for the States of Florida, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, New York, North Dakota, Rhode Island, South Dakota and Wyoming; the Census Bureau estimates for July 1, 1928; the Canadian census of 1921.

ALABAMA

State Capital, MONTGOMERY

Alabama is bounded north by Tennessee, east by Georgia and Florida, south by Florida and the Gulf of Mexico, and west by Mississippi. Extreme length north and south is 336 miles, breadth varies from 150 to 200 miles. Total land area, 51,279 square miles. The Alleghany range enters the state at the northeast and extends toward the center, finally losing itself in mere hills; then follows a tract of rolling prairies, interspersed with pine barrens and exceedingly rich alluvial bottom lands. These bottom lands include the cane brake region, one of the richest cotton-producing districts in the world. From this region to the Florida border and the Gulf, the land is gently undulating and is covered with forests of yellow pine. The mountain districts and the valley of the Tennessee are covered with fine forests of hardwood timber. The total forest area is about twenty million acres and the production of turpentine and resin is important. The cut over pine lands are being settled by white farmers, and crops of corn, cotton, truck crops and fruit are grown. The mineral region occupies the northeastern part, while the northwest is a good agricultural and stock raising country. The climate is temperate and fairly uniform. The land bordering on the Gulf may be called semi-tropical.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 1,447,032; of this number 17,662 are foreign-born, 3,880 from the British Isles, Germans 2,427, Italians, 2,732. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes, 900,652. A few Indians and Orientals. Urban residents 509,317, rural 1,838,857. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 16.1 per cent; of the foreign-born white 10.9 per cent; of the negroes 31.3 per cent.

Agriculture. Alabama ranked twenty-fourth in 1927 in the total value of agricultural products, value $300,000,000; value of crops $232,000,000, value of live stock products $68,000,000. Alabama is one of the 16 cotton states and produces about one-twelfth of the country's cotton. Cotton is grown throughout the state, but mainly in the central belt. In 1920 there were 256,099 farms with an average size of 76.4 acres. Owners operated 107,089; managers, 741; tenants, 148,269. About 83 per cent of the owners and 47 per cent of the tenants were white, the rest negro.

Fisheries. The fish caught during 1927 weighed 10,076,000 pounds, value $437,000. This is an increase over 1923 of 2,445,000 pounds and $95,000. The most valuable catches were oysters, shrimp, red snappers, mullet and sponges.

Forests. The wooded area in 1920 was estimated to cover 20,000 acres. The farm woodlands cover 5,784,045 acres. The principal species of timber cut in 1926 was yellow pine. In 1927 there were 1,647 active mills cutting over 50,000 feet, lumber sawed 2,171,687 (m.ft.b.m.). State ranked fifth in lumber sawed.

The light sandy loams of the central and southern parts of the state produce a remarkably good quality of cigar wrappers of both the Sumatra and Cuban varieties. Corn, honey, all kinds of fruits, including sub-tropical fruits, nuts, berries and truck crops are grown. Truck crops, small fruits and berries are shipped north, the climate being particularly favorable for this industry.

Alabama ranks twenty-ninth in the aggregate value of live stock, value $67,000,000. On January 1, 1929, there were 327,000 mules on the farms valued at $31,202,000. The state ranks fourth in the value of mules.

Industries. In 1925, there were 2,349 manufacturing establishments doing an annual business of $5,000 or over, an increase of 362 over 1923, employing 116,599 wage earners. Annual value of products, $552,824,044. Some leading industries according to value of products are: cotton goods; iron and steel; lumber and timber; coke; cottonseed-oil, cake and meal; fertilizers.

Minerals. The 1927 mineral production had a value of $78,641,000. State ranked sixteenth in value of minerals. Principal products were coal, iron ore, cement, clay products.

General. Alabama's export and import trade centers at Mobile. Cotton, lumber (chiefly yellow pine), iron and naval stores are the chief exports. There are over 5,000 miles of steam railroads, and besides the coast line of the Gulf, there are many hundred miles of navigable rivers.

ALASKA

Territorial Capital, JUNEAU

Alaska is bounded north by the Arctic Ocean, east by the Yukon Territory and British Columbia, south by the Pacific Ocean, and west by Behring Sea and Strait and the Arctic Ocean. It has a total area of about 586,499 square miles, its greatest length, from north to south, being 1,200 miles and greatest breadth over 800 miles. The northern half is low with great morasses along the streams, running back into low, rolling hills and is populated only by a few Indians. The southern half is mountainous and along the southeast coast are some of the highest mountain peaks on the American continent; Mount St. Elias, the principal one, is 18,024 feet. Near the center of the territory is Mt. McKinley, the loftiest on the entire continent, altitude 20,300 feet. The southwesterly section comprises the peninsula of Alaska and the Aleutian Islands, the latter the principal seat of the fur seal fisheries. This district is mountainous and actively volcanic. The coast, from the southern boundary to Cape Spencer, is lined with a continuous chain of islands between which and the mainland are salt water channels, navigable for the largest steamships. In the interior is the Yukon River, which has a course of between 1,500 and 1,600 miles through the territory, navigable the entire distance. The winters in the interior are severe, the temperature reaching as low as 60 degrees, although in summer it sometimes rises to 90 degrees. Along the coast and the Aleutian Islands it rarely goes down to zero, ranging up to 80 degrees in summer. The distance from Eastport, Me., to Attu, the westernmost of the Aleutian Islands, covers 121 degrees of longitude, about one-third of the distance around the world.

Population. Of the 55,036 people enumerated by the 1920 census, 16,286 were native white, 11,597 foreign-born white and 26,558 Indians and Eskimos. A few Chinese, Japanese, Filipinos, etc., make up the total.

Minerals. The principal industry at present is mining, the country being seamed by the largest gold-bearing quartz veins yet discovered. Chief mineral productions, 1925, were gold, 301,212 ounces, value $6,226,600; silver, 766,096 ounces, value $531,671; copper, 72,204,166 pounds; some tin is found. Deposits of anthracite coal of high quality have been discovered, as well as fields of bituminous, the coal fields covering an area of almost a thousand square miles. Railroads now reach some of the coal fields. The annual production at present reaches about 100,000 tons. Some small deposits of petroleum have been found, also gypsum, platinum, lead, tungsten, antimony, tin and graphite. Marble is quarried on Prince of Wales Island. The total mineral production in 1924 had a value of $17,361,834.

Fisheries and Furs. The fisheries form the largest single industry. They are subject to considerable fluctuation in amount of product and capital invested, but they employ about 11,000 people and have an annual return of $17,000,000. The most valuable catches are salmon, herring, halibut and cod, with some clams and shrimp. The whale fishery produced 8,835,000 pounds, value $454,000 in 1928. Since the seals were put under government protection the herds have increased from about 200,000 to more than 700,000. From 20,000 to 30,000 skins, from seals killed under government permits, are shipped each year. A number of the islands have been leased for the purpose of raising blue foxes, and there are nearly 100 fur farms raising silver foxes and other fur bearers. The latest reports give the number of blue fox ranches at 275, stocked with 36,000 foxes.

Agriculture. The agricultural industries in Alaska are confined to a few small truck farms near the cities, but the Department of Agriculture has established Experiment Stations in various places, and oats and wheat have been brought to maturity in favored situations. Some cattle have been raised on the Aleutian Islands. The Department of Agriculture is also raising sheep there. The live stock in 1920 included 92,933 reindeer, which are now believed to number between 300,000 and 400,000; 17,625 working dogs; 1,063 horses; 445 cattle; 349 swine, also some goats and mules. The 1920 census found 364 farms in the territory, of an average area of 249 acres, an average of 15.8 acres being improved.

Commerce and Transportation. The exports consist chiefly of gold, copper ore, salmon and other fish and furs. The merchandise shipped to the United States in 1926 had a value of $73,300,506 and included canned salmon, $48,336,013; other fish, $6,162,914; furs, $11,548,628, including seal skins worth $586,240; copper ore, $10,771,799. The merchandise received from the United States in 1926 was valued at $31,587,337, and consisted chiefly of food products, animal and vegetable; machinery, hardware and other metal goods, textiles and clothing. Only about four per cent of the commerce is with other countries. About 27,000,000 acres of forest land are set apart as national forests under the care of Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture, and their timber will be cut under the supervision of the department in such a manner as to make them a permanent source of supply. The southeastern portion, "Panhandle," has great forests of hemlock, spruce and a little cedar and it is estimated that this district can produce 1,000,000 tons of newsprint perpetually. Some mills have already been established. There is a weekly steamboat up the Yukon from St. Michael, Alaska, to Dawson, in the Yukon Territory of Canada, through the season when the river is open. There is also frequent steamboat connections between south coast towns and the ports of Seattle, Portland and San Francisco, and monthly steamers from those cities to the Behring Sea ports. Places on the north and northwest coast are reached once or twice a year. The United States Government is now operating a railroad from Seward to Fairbanks, on the Tanana River, which, with its branches, is over 500 miles long. Other railroads run from Skagway to White Horse, Yukon Territory, Canada, about 40 miles; from Fairbanks, north, about 40 miles, and from Cordova, north, along the Copper River, about 200 miles.

ARIZONA

State Capital, PHŒNIX

Arizona is bounded north by Utah and Nevada, south by Mexico, east by New Mexico, and west by California and Nevada. Length, north to south, 390 miles, breadth averages about 300 miles. Total land area, 113,810 square miles. It lies entirely within the valley of the Colorado, which stream forms nearly all the western boundary. The streams generally flow through deeply eroded chasms, among them being the wonderful "Grand Canon of the Colorado." In the north are large pine forests, the greater portion being included in the National Forests, the timber of which is being cut under government supervision. The high summer temperature and the days of uninterrupted sunshine make the valley lands wonderful producers of exotic fruits and vegetables. The U. S. Weather Bureau at Phœnix shows the highest summer temperature in the United States, the average from April to October inclusive, being over 100 degrees, reaching as high as 110 degrees in June. The winter months bring the annual mean down to 69 degrees. The rainfall is very light, increasing with the altitude and varying from 3.15 inches at Yuma, which has an elevation of 141 feet, to 23.87 inches at Flagstaff, at an elevation of 6,907 feet. The Weather Bureau station at Yuma shows the lowest percentage of humidity in the United States, 42 per cent.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 291,449; of this number 78,099 are foreign-born, 4,876 from the British Isles, Germans 1,516, Mexicans 61,580. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Indians 32,989, negroes 8,005. Urban residents 117,527, rural 216,635. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 15.3; of the foreign-born white 27.5.

Agriculture. Arizona ranked forty-fourth in 1927 in the total value of agricultural products, value $56,000,000; value of crops $34,000,000; value of live stock products $22,000,000. Agriculture in general is rapidly advancing because of increased irrigation facilities. This state has more irrigated land than any other. In recent years, under federal supervision, the irrigated area has been greatly extended and 66.2 per cent of the 9,975 farms are included in this area. The great Roosevelt dam, constructed under the national irrigation law, stores the flood waters of Salt River and Tonto Creek and forms a reservoir whose capacity is sufficient to cover 1,284,000 acres one foot deep. Its purpose is to irrigate 240,000 acres of land in the Salt River valley, sixty miles distant from the reservoir. The annual rainfall in this district is only five inches, and the mean temperature about 69 degrees. It will be possible to irrigate several thousand acres of land from the water stored by the Laguna dam on the Colorado River near Yuma. A sufficient supply of water demonstrates that the soil of the state has remarkable fertility, and a succession of crops can be grown throughout the year. The area of farm lands and the number of farms is increasing. In 1920 there were 9,975 farms, with an average size of 5,817 acres, 71.5 acres improved. Owners operated 78.9 per cent of the farms. "Dry farming" has been carried on with good results in some parts of the state and fair crops of grain are grown.

Lettuce	3,272,000 crates	3	4,646,000	28,700	114 crates
Total estimated value of 22 leading crops		40	$34,226,000

Cantaloupes, watermelons, dates, figs and other deciduous fruits and all kinds of vegetables are grown. Alfalfa, grain and cotton are the principal crops grown on the irrigated lands. The mountain lands are well adapted to stock raising, especially sheep and Angora goats. Arizona produced 684,000 pounds of mohair and 5,760,000 pounds of wool during 1928. The state ranks second in the production of mohair. There are still a few ostrich farms and some poultry is raised.

Industries. In 1925 there were 2,948 manufacturing establishments doing an annual business of $5,000 or over, an increase of eleven over 1923, employing 9,127 wage earners. Annual value of products, $138,781,477. Some leading industries according to value of products are: copper smelting and refining; lumber and timber products; slaughtering and meat packing; cottonseed oil, cake and meal; condensed and evaporated milk, cheese and butter.

Minerals. The 1927 mineral production had a value of $100,559,000. The state ranked fourteenth in value of minerals. Principal products were coal, gold, silver, lead.

General. The state has potential permanent water power to the amount of nearly 3,000,000 horse-power. There were 2,400 miles of railroads in 1923. An extensive system of good roads is provided for under a special tax and will be advantageous to the growth of the state.

ARKANSAS

State Capital, LITTLE ROCK

Arkansas is bounded north by Missouri, east by Missouri, Tennessee and Mississippi, south by Louisiana, southwest by Texas and west by Oklahoma. The greatest length, north and south, is 240 miles, breadth varies from 170 to 250 miles. Total land area, 52,525 square miles. The state lies in the drainage basin of the lower Mississippi. The eastern part is low and level, originally covered with dense forests, many swamps and lakes. This part of the state is being drained and the land, which is of great fertility, brought into use. The surface rises toward the center, where it is hilly and diversified with forests and rolling prairies. Further west are the Ozark Mountains. The valley of the St. Francis in the the northeast, like the Mississippi Valley, is gradually being drained. In the southern part of the state are the Saline, Ouachita, Little Missouri and Red Rivers, all navigable, while in the southeast the Bayou Bartholomew drains a large area, giving it communication with the Mississippi. Average rainfall is about 45 inches. The summer season is long, the winters short and mild.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 1,279,757; of this number 13,975 are foreign-born, 2,223 are from the British Isles, Germans 3,979. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 472,220. Urban residents 290,497, rural 1,461,707. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 9.4; of the foreign-born white 8.3; of the negroes 21.8.

Agriculture. Arkansas ranked twenty-fifth in 1927 in the total value of agricultural products, value $299,000,000; value of crops, $219,000,000; value of live stock products $80,000,000. In 1920 there were 232,604 farms with an average size of 75 acres, 39.6 acres improved. Owners or managers operated 112,383 farms; tenants 119,221. White farmers numbered 160,322; colored 72,282. The character of the soil varies from sandy in the uplands to clay in the lowlands, with a wonderful richness in the alluvial bottoms. This variety of soils combined with the moderate altitudes, favorable temperatures and moisture give Arkansas a wide diversity of crops. Almost every crop which can be grown between the Great Lakes and the Gulf of Mexico can be successfully grown in Arkansas. The river valleys are exceptionally fertile, and yield large crops of cotton, corn, sweet potatoes, rice, tobacco and fruit, including figs and other sub-tropical fruits. According to the 1920 census this state produced over 12,000,000 quarts of small fruits other than strawberries. The valley of the Arkansas, from the Oklahoma line entirely across the state, is unsurpassed as a cotton producing region. The soil on the uplands produces good crops of wheat, oats and fruit, especially apples and peaches. Two crops of Irish potatoes are frequently grown in one year.

Stock raising is an advancing industry. The mild winters make it unnecessary to shelter live stock.

Forests. The wooded area in 1920 was estimated to cover 21,500,000 acres. The farm woodlands cover 5,392,900 acres. The principal species of timber cut in 1926 was yellow pine. The state ranked first in the production of oak. In 1927 there were 460 active mills cutting over 50,000 feet, lumber sawed 1,229,481 (m.ft.b.m.). State ranked eighth in lumber sawed.

Industries. In 1925, there were 1,257 manufacturing establishments doing an annual business of $5,000 or over, an increase of 26 over 1923, employing 44,520 wage earners. Annual value of products, $195,208,015. Some leading industries according to value of products are: lumber and timber products; cottonseed-oil, cake and meal; petroleum; foundry and machine shop products: flour and grain mill products.

Minerals. The 1927 production of minerals had a value of $59,449,000. State ranked twentieth in value of minerals. Principal products were petroleum, coal, natural gas.

General. Among the mineral springs of the state the Hot Springs of Arkansas, at Hot Springs, are the most renowned. There are others, celebrated for their medicinal qualities at Eureka Springs, Heber Springs, Siloam Springs and Sulphur Springs. Over one million gallons of mineral waters are shipped each year. There are over 5,000 miles of railroad.

CALIFORNIA

State Capital, SACRAMENTO

California is bounded north by Oregon, east by Nevada and Arizona, south by Lower California, and west by the Pacific Ocean. A line through its center, following the curves of the eastern and western borders, would measure about 770 miles, breadth averages about 230 miles. Total land area, 155,652 square miles. California is the second largest state in the Union. The state is traversed by two great mountain ranges, the Sierra Nevada in the east and the Coast Range in the west. Between them are the beautiful and fertile valleys of the Sacramento and San Joaquin, forming practically one immense basin over 400 miles long. The Yosemite and other valleys are on the western slope of the Sierra Nevada and the entire range is highly productive of minerals, likewise, to a lesser degree, is the Coast Range. The surface presents every variety of soil and scenery. The highest peak in the country, excluding Alaska, is Mount Whitney which is 14,898 feet, and the lowest depression is in Death Valley, 276 feet below sea-level. Both are in Inyo county only 75 miles apart. The extreme north of the state is an elevated mountain region and is celebrated for timber, minerals and fruits. The central and southern portions, except in the more mountainous districts, have soil unexcelled in fertility. The southwestern portion, although containing some fertile valleys, is chiefly a region of arid and barren deserts. Its mineral wealth, however, is important.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 3,264,711; of this number 681,662 are foreign-born, 123,950 from the British Isles, Italians 88,504, Mexicans 88,771. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 38,763, Indians 17,360, Chinese 28,812, Japanese 71,952. Urban residents 2,331,729, rural 1,095,132. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 3.3; foreign-born white 10.5.

Agriculture. California ranked eighth in 1927 in the total value of agricultural products, value $686,000,000; value of crops $483,000,000; value of live stock products $203,000,000. California is an important agricultural state. There are about one hundred million acres in the state, farms, vineyards and orchards occupying over twenty-nine million acres. In 1920 there were 117,690 farms with an average size of 249.6 acres, 100.9 acres improved. White farmers numbered 111,184, about one-third being foreign-born. Japanese farmers numbered 5,152; Chinese, negro and Indian, 1,234. Many large public and private irrigation enterprises are in operation and there are about 67,000 farms now under irrigation. Nearly every kind of product of the temperate and sub-tropical zone is grown in the state, especially cereals, forage crops, vegetables, fruits and nuts.

Barley	31,842,000 bu.	3	$22,926,000	1,044,000	30.5 bu.
Beans	4,425,000 bu.	2	19,470,000	250,000	17.7 bu.

This state ranked first in the number of fruit trees in 1925 having 45,292,095. The 1920 production of small fruits other than strawberries was 15,458,726 quarts and the value of the vegetables raised during this year was $24,111,588. California was first in honey production in 1920 producing 5,501,738 pounds, value $1,100,351. Cotton is grown in the Imperial Valley.

California ranks eleventh in the aggregate value of live stock, value $201,000,000. On January 1, 1929, there were on the farms: 3,846,000 sheep, value $41,527,000; cattle other than dairy cows 1,329,000, value $67,189,000. California ranks third in sheep; fourth in the production of wool in 1928, production 23,800,000 pounds; fifth in cattle other than dairy cows; sixth in the production of mohair in 1928, production 176,000 pounds.

Fisheries. The fish caught during 1927 weighed 491,347,000 pounds, value $10,058,000. This is an increase of 92,696,000 and $2,154,000 over 1926. The most valuable catches were sardines, tuna, salmon, barracuda, shrimp and crabs. This industry employs about 7,000 people.

Forests. The wooded area in 1920 was estimated to cover 18,275,000 acres. The principal species of timber cut in 1926 was Western yellow pine. The state ranked first in the production of redwood, white fir and sugar pine. In 1927 there were 154 active mills cutting over 50,000 feet, lumber sawed 2,070,811 (m.ft.b.m.). State ranked third in lumber sawed and in the production of shingles.

Industries. In 1925, there were 9,638 manufacturing establishments doing an annual business of $5,000 or over, an increase of 490 over 1923, employing 249,552 wage earners. Annual value of products, $2,442,952,104. Some leading industries according to value are: petroleum refining; canning and preserving; slaughtering and meat packing; foundry and machine shop products; motor vehicles; lumber and timber products; motion pictures; butter, cheese, condensed and evaporated milk; furniture; structural and ornamental iron work; tinware.

Minerals. The 1927 mineral production had a value of $459,638,000. State ranked third in value of minerals. The principal products were petroleum, natural gas, cement.

General. Over 65,000 farms have running water and over 30,000 have gas or electricity. The public roads are an object of much care and expenditure. A large number of interurban electric lines have been built within the past few years. Railroad mileage, in 1923, was 8,282 miles. Water-power is in use to the extent of 1,500,000 horse-power and several million potential horse-power awaits development.

CANAL ZONE

Population of U. S. Territory, 27,145

The Canal Zone is situated between the 8 and 10 degrees of north latitude and the 79 and 81 degrees of west longitude. It is a strip of territory extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean, under perpetual lease to the United States. It includes the land within five miles on each side of the Panama Canal. Its land area is 441½ square miles, total area 553.8 square miles. The Panama Railway, on the eastern side of the Canal, runs between Colon and Panama. The cities of Panama, at the the Pacific or southeastern terminus of the canal, and Colon, at the Caribbean or northwestern end, are not included in the Canal Zone, but remain in the jurisdiction of the Republic of Panama. From deep water off Colon to deep water off Panama City, the canal is 43¾ miles in length. In the calendar year 1927, 6085 commercial vessels, with a tonnage of 36,381,124, carrying 29,102,538 tons of cargo, passed through the Canal. The tolls paid were $26,231,022. All industrial activities within the Canal Zone are controlled by the Government, which holds the title to all land. With the exception of a small native population engaged in agricultural pursuits, only persons connected with the operation, maintenance, and protection of the Canal are permitted to reside within the boundaries of the Zone. Adjoining territory is adapted to stock raising, growing of tropical fruits and sugar-cane.

COLORADO

State Capital, DENVER

Colorado is bounded north by Nebraska and Wyoming, east by Nebraska and Kansas, south by Oklahoma and New Mexico, and west by Utah. Length, from east to west, 380 miles, breadth, 280 miles. Total land area, 103,658 square miles. It is intersected near the center by the main range of the Rocky Mountains, otherwise known as the "Continental Divide," and including the highest peaks, among which are Pike's and Long's, Mts. Torrey, Lincoln, Gray, Yale, Harvard and the Spanish Peaks. The mountains enclose wonderful valleys or basins known as parks, many of which are small, but several are nearly 2,000 square miles in area. These parks are well timbered, and abound with beautiful scenery, being diversified with low hills and ridges, which contain the sources of all the great rivers that rise in the state. The average altitude of this state is over 6,800 feet above sea level and the lowest altitude, along the Arkansas River, in Prowers county, is 3,350 feet. There are 120 peaks of over 13,500 feet altitude and 35 over 14,000 feet. In crossing the mountains the height reached by railroad is 11,330 feet and by wagon road 13,700 feet. These altitudes, however, do not mean that the mountains are bare of vegetation, or snow-covered. While in the European Alps but little arboreal growth is found at over 6,000 feet, and the line of perpetual snow is found between 9,000 and 10,000 feet, timber is found in many places in Colorado at a height of 11,000 feet, and the snow line in summer is about 14,000. Wheat and oats have attained maturity at 7,000 to 8,000 feet, barley at over 10,000 feet and apples, pears, plums, cherries and small fruits between 7,000 and 8,000 feet. There are many mineral springs, some reputed to have medicinal value. The eastern part of Colorado is an immense plain which was for many years devoted to cattle raising, but is now being rapidly developed into one of the finest agricultural districts in the country. The climate is warm in summer and cold in winter, dry and healthful. The altitude, the sunshine and the dry atmosphere are beneficial to invalids, especially those suffering from pulmonary trouble.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 924,103; of this number 116,954 are foreign-born, 20,618 from the British Isles, Mexicans 11,037, Scandinavians 14,460. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 11,318, Indians 1,383, Japanese 2,464. Urban residents 453,259, rural 486,370. Illiterates 3.9 per cent. Per cent of illiterates: in the state 3.2; foreign-born white 12.4; of the negroes 6.2.

Agriculture. Colorado ranked twenty-eighth in 1927 in the total value of agricultural products, value $248,000,000; value of crops, $132,000,000; value of live stock products, $116,000,000. Much of the land will always be better fitted for grazing than for cultivation, but the cultivated area is gradually increasing. In 1920 there were 59,934 farms with an average size of 408.1 acres, 129.2 acres improved. Owners or managers operated 46,171 farms; tenants 13,763. Foreign-born farmers operated 9,535; Indians, Negroes and Orientals 553, the balance by native white people. Irrigation ditches have been constructed in all parts of the state and are being steadily extended. Colorado ranks second in the number of farms under irrigation. Soil under irrigation is very productive, the yield per acre of grain crops being two to three times heavier than on land not irrigated. The western slope is particularly adapted to the production of apples, more than two-thirds of the state's crop coming from that region. Berries and other small fruits, peaches and pears do well. The production of sugar-beets and beet-sugar is an important industry. The state ranks first in the production of sugar-beets, also in the manufacture of beet-sugar.

Total estimated value of 22 leading crops..		30	$86,356,000

On January 1, 1929, there were 2,780,000 sheep on the farms, value $29,615,000. State ranks sixth in sheep and tenth in the production of wool, production for 1928, 8,831,000 pounds.

Industries. In 1925 there were 1,416 manufacturing establishments doing an annual business of $5,000 or over, an increase of 39 over 1923, employing 31,967 wage earners. Annual value of products $278,778,008. Some leading industries according to value of productions are: beet-sugar; slaughtering and meat packing; flour, feed and grain mill products; butter, cheese, evaporated and condensed milk.

Minerals. The 1927 production of minerals had a value of $58,855,000. State ranked twenty-first in value of minerals. The principal products were coal, gold, zinc, lead.

General. Lumbering is of considerable importance, Pondosa Pine, Spruce and Fir are the chief species. Water power is in use to the extent of nearly 90,000 horse-power and there is fully

CONNECTICUT

State Capital, HARTFORD

Connecticut is bounded north by Massachusetts, east by Rhode Island, south by Long Island Sound and west by New York. The average length from east to west is 86 miles, average breadth is 55 miles. Total land area, 4,820 square miles. The eastern part of the state has many ridges of low hills with fertile valleys between. The Connecticut River valley, at a distance from the Sound, is very fertile. In the south the land is broken and the soil sandy, but when well fertilized yields good crops. In the west the surface is rough and the hills are abrupt rising to an altitude of nearly 2,000 feet. There are several good harbors on the coast and the state has an unusual water supply for industrial uses. The climate is temperate but subject to sudden changes, yet the extremes of heat and cold are less than in the other New England States.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 1,358,732; of this number 376,513 are foreign-born, 76,327 from the British Isles, Italians 80,332, Poles 46,623, Russians 38,719. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 21,046. Urban residents 936,339, rural 444,292. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 6.2; of the foreign-born white 17.0; of the negroes 6.2.

Agriculture. Connecticut ranked forty-third in 1927 in the total value of agricultural products, value $75,000,000; value of crops, $42,000,000; value of live stock products, $33,000,000. Agriculture employs less than one-third of the working population. In 1920 there were 22,655 farms with an average size of 83.8 acres, 30.9 acres improved. Owners operated 86.8 per cent of the farms; managers 4.7 per cent; tenants 8.5 per cent. There is a much smaller per cent of tenant operation than in the country as a whole. The average for the United States being 38.1 per cent.

Corn	2,310,000 bu.		$3,003,000	55,000	42.0 bu.
Hay (Tame)	570,000 tons		10,773,000	354,000	1.61 tons
Oats	405,000 bu.		284,000	15,000	27.0 bu.
Potatoes	2,210,000 bu.		1,989,000	17,000	130 bu.
Tobacco	29,750,000 lbs.	6	11,071,000	25,000	1,190 lbs.
Chief Fruits:
Apples	1,500,000 bu.		1,950,000
Grapes	1,314 tons
Peaches	239,000 bu.		454,000
Pears	42,000 bu.		67,000
Total estimated value of 22 leading crops		41	$29,239,000

Hay and tobacco are the leading money crops. Although the state ranks tenth in the production of tobacco the fine quality of the crop gives the state sixth place in value. The Connecticut Valley produces the finest cigar wrappers grown in the United States. The land near the larger cities is chiefly devoted to market gardening.

Fisheries. In 1924 Connecticut ranked third among the New England States in the size and value of her fisheries. The oyster industry is by far the more important, with an annual production of over 7,000,000 pounds. Other important products were flounders, lobsters and menhaden. The production of fish oil and fertilizers is an important phase of this industry. The total value of the fishery products in 1924 was $2,006,658.

Industries. In 1925, there were 3,062 manufacturing establishments doing an annual business of $5,000 or over, a decrease of 63 since 1923, employing 242,362 wage earners. Annual value of products, $1,274,951,562. Some leading industries according to value of products are: copper, brass; bronze and nonferrous alloys; foundry and machine shop products; hardware and cutlery; electrical machinery and supplies; silk, cotton and woolen goods; ammunition and related products; plated ware; hats; paper and wood pulp; tools. Connecticut ranks first in the manufacture of brass goods, producing 44.6 per cent of the total for the United States. In clocks, corsets, firearms, ammunition and silver-plated ware, it produces over two-thirds of the country's total.

Minerals. The 1927 mineral production had a value of $7,229,000. State ranked fortieth in value of minerals. The principal products were stone, clay products, lime, sand and gravel.

General. The state of Connecticut, and especially its capital city, Hartford, has become noted for the extent and solidity of its insurance interests. The forty insurance companies of Hartford alone have combined assets of $1,509,247,923 and 15,000 employees. This state has a fine system of improved roads and accommodates heavy vehicular traffic. There are hundreds of beautiful country homes of New York and other city people in the state, especially in the western part. Over 7,000 farms are located on hard surfaced roads. The state has many fine educational institutions, including Yale University at New Haven, founded in 1701. The Connecticut River is open to navigation from its mouth to Hartford. The Thames River is likewise navigable by Sound steamers as far as its formation by the Yantic and Shetucket Rivers in Norwich City, and steamers ply regularly between that city and New York and in the summer season to the shore resorts.

DELAWARE

State Capital, DOVER

Delaware is bounded north by Pennsylvania, east by the Delaware River and Bay and the Atlantic Ocean, south and west by Maryland. Length from north to south is 96 miles, breadth varies from 9 to 12 miles in the north to about 36 miles in the south. Total land area is 1,965 square miles. The surface in the north is somewhat hilly, and southward the land is rolling, with fringes of marshes and swamp tracts along the indentations of Delaware Bay. The southern portion of the state is a sandy region, but by skillful farming has been made highly productive. Kaolin and iron ore are found in the north. The soil in the interior of the state is light and easily cultivated.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 192,615; of this number 19,810 are foreign-born, 4,847 from the British Isles, Poles 3,847. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 30,335. Urban residents 120,767, rural 102,236. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 5.9; of the foreign-born white 17.3; of the negroes 19.1.

Agriculture. Delaware ranked forty-sixth in 1927 in the total value of agricultural products, value $28,000,000; value of crops $18,000,000, value of live stock products $10,000,000. In 1920 there were 10,140 farms with an average size of 93.1 acres, 64.4 acres improved. White owners operated 5,655 farms; managers 131; tenants 3,988. Negro owners operated 355; managers 13; tenants 504. The agricultural products are grain, fruit and market garden produce. Many evaporators and canneries are engaged in preserving all kinds of fruits, berries and garden vegetables, especially tomatoes.

Buckwheat	34,000 bu.		$32,000	2,000	17.0 bu.
Corn	4,488,000 bu.		3,949,000	136,000	33.0 bu.

Rye	45,000 bu.		54,000	3,000	15.0 bu.
Sweet Potatoes	980,000 bu.		784,000	7,000	140 bu.
Wheat	1,836,000 bu.		2,295,000	102,000	18.0 bu.
Chief Fruits:
Apples	1,520,000 bu.		1,672,000
Grapes	1,600 tons
Peaches	155,000 bu.		186,000
Pears	108,000 bu.		65,000
Strawberries	12,528,000 qts.		1,002,000	4,640	2,700 qts.
Total estimated value of 22 leading crops		45	$11,633,000

Fisheries. The fish caught during 1926 weighed 33,258,000 pounds, value $1,030,000, an increase of 8,235,000 pounds and $378,000 over 1921. The most valuable catches were oysters, crabs, shad and weakfish.

Industries. In 1925, there were 419 manufacturing establishments doing an annual business of $5,000 or over, a decrease of 34 since 1923, employing 20,704 wage earners. Annual value of products $125,406,332. Some leading industries according to value of products are: leather and tanned goods; iron and steel, foundry and machine shop products; canning and preserving.

Minerals. Delaware had the lowest mineral production in 1927. Production had a value of $493,000. Principal products were clay products, stone, sand and gravel.

General. The depth and width of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, which connects the upper portions of the bays has been increased and converted into a free ship canal, which greatly facilitates traffic between Philadelphia and Baltimore and other ports in Maryland and Virginia. Other projects are under way for the drainage of swamp lands in Sussex County and for the building of good roads, New Castle County alone spending $600,000 for the latter purpose. About 23 per cent of the farms are on hard surfaced roads.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

The District of Columbia is inclosed by the state of Maryland, except on the southwest, which is bounded by the Potomac River, navigable for large vessels up to the city of Washington; land area; 60 square miles. Surface undulating, with a fine fertile soil on the small portion, about 20 per cent, which is available for cultivation.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 326,860; of this number 28,548 are foreign-born, 8,220 from the British Isles, Russians, 5,181, Italians 3,764, Germans 3,382. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 109,966. Percentage of illiterates: in the district 2.8; of the foreign-born white 6.1; of the negroes 8.6.

Agriculture. Floriculture, truck growing and dairying are the chief agricultural industries, flowers and foliage plants leading with a production of fully 60 per cent of the total of all agricultural products. The number and total area of the farms are declining year by year. They numbered 204 in 1920, averaging 27.8 acres, 20.9 acres being improved. Owners operated 100 farms, managers 19 and tenants 85.

Industries. In 1925, there were 583 manufacturing establishments doing an annual business of $5,000 or over, a decrease of 17 since 1923, employing 9,758 wage earners. Annual value of products, $83,576,826. Principal manufactures according to value: slaughtering and meat packing; lumber and planing mill products; structural and ornamental iron work; hand stamps and pencils and brands; and many others. The United States Government employs over 100,000 citizens in the offices of the various departments, and also has large plants for engraving, printing, bookbinding and the manufacture of various articles, employing in normal times about 15,000 persons. A considerable coasting trade is carried on.

FLORIDA

State Capital, TALLAHASSEE

Florida is bounded north by Alabama and Georgia, east by the Atlantic Ocean, south and west by the Gulf of Mexico and Alabama. The peninsular portion of the state is about 375 miles long, average breadth 90 miles; the upper portion 360 miles from east to west, 30 to 90 miles from north to south. Total land area, 54,861 square miles. The surface is diversified with numerous lakes, the largest, Okeechobee, being 40 miles long by about 30 miles wide. There is a coast line of about 1,150 miles. The larger portion of that part of the peninsula south of Lake Okeechobee is occupied by the Everglades, an evergreen marsh or swamp, 55 miles wide by 150 miles long, and covered with a dense growth of "saw grass," 8 to 10 feet high and so thick as to be practically impenetrable, except where intersected by numerous winding channels. The surface is dotted with many islands of from one-half acre to hundreds of acres, almost all being subject to overflow during rainy seasons. The state has made good progress in the work of draining the Everglades, by cutting through the rim of limestone rock which confines the waters, and by controlling the overflow of Lake Okeechobee. This project, when carried to completion, will add 4,200,000 acres (nearly 7,000 square miles) of most fertile soil to the area of tillable land. Other drainage enterprises, already in operation, cover 1,637,073 acres and projects to drain 1,008,743 acres more are organized. The Coast Line Canal, with a depth of five feet from Miami to Jacksonville has been completed and is 370 miles long. A ship canal across the state from Jacksonville is under consideration and United States engineers have made preliminary surveys. Many other improvements of water courses are contemplated or under construction. From the northern end of the swamp to Georgia is mostly a dead level, with occasional undulations and small hills. The highest place in the state, at Iron Mountain is only 325 feet above the sea. The pine lands, which cover the greater part of the state, are studded, at intervals of a few miles, with stretches of extremely rich soil, called hummocks, varying in extent from small patches up to thousands of acres. The swamp lands, when drained, are remarkably fertile. The climate is semi-tropical, but the temperature does not reach the extremes attained in other states. The greatest annual rainfall is 60.2 inches. The winter climates of Florida is exceedingly mild, frost being of rare occurrence, and it has become a most fashionable resort at that season.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 638,153; of this number 43,008 are foreign-born, 7,031 from the British Isles, Italians 4,745, Germans 3,534. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 329,487. Urban residents 355,825, rural 612,645. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 9.6; of the foreign-born white 6.3; of the negroes 21.5.

Agriculture. Florida ranked thirty-ninth in 1927 in the total value of agricultural products, value $94,000,000; value of crops, $76,000,000; value of live stock products, $18,000,000. In 1920 there were 54,005 farms with an average size of 112 acres, 42.5 acres improved. White farmers numbered 41,051; owners, 38,487; managers, 1,829; tenants, 13,689. Negro farmers numbered 12,954; owners, 6,320; managers, 101; tenants, 6,533. Foreign-born farmers numbered 2,715.

From U. S. Agr. Dept. Report, Dec. 1928.

Nearly all sub-tropical fruits and vegetables of all kinds are grown in quantities and shipped to the northern markets. Tomatoes sold for table trade bring more than double the average price as they are the first to appear on the northern markets. The vegetable crop has an annual value of over 13 million dollars. The pecan crops averages over one million pounds annually.

Fisheries. The fish caught on the west coast during 1927 weighed 73,834,760 pounds, value $4,351,420; on the east coast 60,222,023 pounds, value $1,870,926. The most valuable catches were sponges, mullet, red snappers, mackerel, sea trout and shrimp. The coral fisheries are also important.

Forests. The forests of the state cover about 37,000 square miles, chiefly in the northern part of the state and including about one-half of the peninsula. Yellow pine predominates except in the marsh lands where cypress abounds. About one-half of the varieties common to this country are counted among its timberland. One hundred and eighty-seven out of 247 species

GEORGIA

State Capital, ATLANTA

Georgia is bounded north by Tennessee and North Carolina, northeast by South Carolina, southeast by the Atlantic Ocean, south by Florida, and west by Alabama. Extreme length from north to south is 320 miles, extreme breadth 254 miles. Total land area, 58,725 square miles. The surface is varied; along the coast it is intersected by numerous rivers and sounds, and the country for miles inland is a succession of ridges of pines and live oaks and swamps of cypress. The great Okefinokee swamp is in the southeast. Back from the coast is a stretch of sandy land, mostly pine barrens yielding quantities of timber and naval stores. A series of terraces bring the land in the middle of the state to about 575 feet above tidewater, from which elevation it rises toward the north more rapidly, until it becomes mountainous, being there crossed by spurs of the Appalachians.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 1,689,114; of this number 16,186 are foreign-born, 3,338 from the British Isles, Russians 3,452, Germans 1,936. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 1,206,365. Urban residents, 727,859, rural 2,167,973. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 15.3; of the foreign-born white 5.4; of the negroes 29.1.

Agriculture. Georgia ranked twenty-first in 1927 in the total value of agricultural products, value $347,000,000; value of crops $260,000,000; value of live stock products $87,000,000. In 1920 there were 310,732 farms with an average size of 81.9 acres, 42 acres improved. Owners operated 102,123 farms; managers 1,655; tenants 206,954. White farmers numbered 180,545; negro 130,187. The soil of the islands is sandy, producing sea island cotton; that of the mainland, rich alluvial, producing corn, cotton and rice; the middle region is red loam, yielding cotton, corn and tobacco. In the north, grain, tobacco, fruits, including figs and other species of subtropical fruits and vegetables are grown. Cotton is mainly grown in the central, west central and southwestern regions.

From U. S. Agr. Dept. Report, Dec. 1928.

Georgia is noted for her production of fine peaches and watermelons. They are shipped to the northern markets in July and August where they command a high price as there is no competition with peach and melon growers of other sections. The vegetable production has an annual value of about $2,000,000.

Fisheries. The fish caught during 1927 weighed 47,607,224 pounds, value $697,165. The most valuable catches were menhaden, shrimp and shad.

Forests. The wooded area in 1920 was estimated to cover 20,000,000 acres. The farm woodlands cover 7,045,813 acres. The principal species of timber cut in 1926 was yellow pine. In 1927 there were 1,133 active mills cutting over 50,000 feet each, lumber sawed 1,201,008 (m.ft.b.m.). State ranked ninth in lumber sawed.

Industries. In 1925 there were 2,876 manufacturing establishments doing an annual business of $5,000 or over, a decrease of 177 since 1923, employing 141,173 wage earners. Annual value of products $648,852,294. Some leading industries according to value of products are: cotton goods; fertilizers; food preparations; turpentine and resin; knit goods; cottonseed-oil, cake and meal; flour, feed and grain mill products; slaughtering and meat packing; marble, slate; stoves and furniture.

Minerals. The 1927 production of minerals had a value of $16,756,000. State ranked thirty-fourth in value of minerals. The principal products were stone, clay products, cement, fuller's earth.

General. The products of the farm woodlands have an annual value of over $21,000,000. Savannah is the most important south Atlantic seaport and has an important foreign and domestic commerce. It is considered the largest naval stores port and the second largest cotton and rice port in the United States. Water power has been developed to the extent of 360,000 horse power and 1,500,000 awaits development. There are over 7,000 miles of railroads in the state. There are numerous mineral springs, of which the Indian Spring in Butts county and the Bowden Lithia, or Salt Spring, in Douglas county are the best known.

HAWAII

Territorial Capital, HONOLULU

The Hawaiian Islands are situated in the North Pacific Ocean, 2,020 miles southwest of San Francisco, and are 20 in number. Nine of the group are inhabited. Hawaii is the largest, with an area of 4,015 square miles; the others vary in size from 728 to 2.7 square miles. They are of volcanic origin, and two volcanoes, Kilauea and Mauna, are still active. Mauna Kea, the highest point on Hawaii, has an altitude of 13,825 feet. The mountains range from 4,000 to 5,000 feet above sea level and are covered with forests. The present area in proclaimed forest reserves is 882,001 acres, sixty-six per cent of which belong outright to the Territory.

Population. A recent report of the governor of Hawaii estimates the number of various races living on the islands as follows: Japanese, 129,901; Filipino, 50,145; Portuguese, 27,870; Chinese, 25,111; Hawaiian of unmixed blood, 21,054; of mixed ancestry, 23,436; Korean, 6,078; Porto Rican, 6,504; American, British, German and Russian, 36,135; Spanish, 1,791; all others 421. The native race is decreasing in number, chiefly through intermarriage with other races. In 1920 the urban residents numbered 93,758, rural 162,154. Percentage of illiteracy, (1920 census): Portuguese, 18.9; Porto Ricans, 46.7; Spanish, 31.5; Chinese, 21.0; Japanese, 20.8; Koreans, 17.3; Filipinos, 47.7; Hawaiian, 3.0; Caucasians, other than those mentioned, less than 1.0. Education is well cared for. There are 182 public schools, with 58,860 pupils, and 63 private schools, most of them for the benefit of the alien races, with 9,651 pupils.

Agriculture. In 1920 the farms numbered 5,284, averaging 511 acres, with 82 acres improved. White farmers numbered 892; Hawaiian, 679; Japanese, 3,098; Chinese, 500, the rest of various races. Almost all the Japanese and Chinese are tenants. About 75 per cent of the white farmers and 80 per cent of the Hawaiian farmers own their own farms. The chief agricultural products are sugar, pineapples, rice, coffee and vegetables. The production of sugar in 1925 was 787,246 tons. About 250,000 acres of land are devoted to this crop, 110,000 to 120,000 acres being harvested each year, as the crop takes about 18 months to mature in Hawaii, and only a part of it can be harvested each season. The average yield per acre is a little over four tons of sugar, running about 244 pounds to the ton of cane. Bananas are an important product, over 100,000 bunches being exported annually. The United States Experiment Station has been conducting a series of experiments in tobacco culture, and has discovered that a large area of the soil is suitable for this crop. The culture and canning of pineapples is a large and rapidly developing industry; one of the canneries being the largest fruit preserving plant in the world. Nearly 9,000,000 cases of canned pineapples were packed in 1926. Rubber culture is a new industry, but has made good progress. There are now about 5,000 thriving rubber trees. The culture of cotton is increasing, and sisal hemp is one of the established products. Cattle and sheep are raised in sufficient numbers to supply the needs of the islands. Large quantities of commercial fertilizers are manufactured.

Commerce. The United States practically monopolizes the trade of Hawaii, only a small portion of the business being done with other countries. The 1926 exports to the United States were valued at $108,699,192, including raw sugar and molasses to the value of $69,533,912. The imports from the United States reached a total value of $71,796,145. The principal imports were rice, bread stuffs, textiles, automobiles, rubber goods, including automobile tires, iron and steel goods, cement, lumber, electrical machinery and other manufactured goods. Business with countries other than the United States in 1925 amounted to: imports, $10,299,000; exports, $1,415,000. There are excellent roads throughout the islands. Steam railroads number eight; three on Hawaii, two on Oahu, two on Kauai and one on Mau, with a total length of 371.55 miles. Banking: Twenty-nine banks and eleven trust companies were operating in the Territory at the close of 1926. In the eleven years from 1915 to 1926 commercial deposits grew from $12,378,041 to $44,861,828; savings deposits from $7,736,569 to $22,989,564.

IDAHO

State Capital, BOISE

Idaho is bounded north by British Columbia, east by Montana and Wyoming, south by Utah and Nevada, and west by Oregon and Washington. Length from north to south is about 480 miles, width varies from 44 to 325 miles. Total land area, 83,354 square miles. Surface is diversified, mountainous in the northern and central portions with arid plains in the south. In the southeast is a volcanic region, abounding in geysers and saline springs. The climate is dry and healthful. Warm in summer and cold in winter. Idaho had the lowest death rate in 1925 or 6.7 per cent per thousand population.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 425,668; of this number 38,963 are foreign-born, 7,664 from the British Isles, Scandinavians 9,834, Germans 4,143. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Indians 3,098, Japanese 1,569. Urban residents 119,037, rural 312,829. Percentage of illiterates: in the state, 1.5; of the foreign-born white, 6.5; of the negroes, 5.4.

Agriculture. Idaho ranked thirty-second in 1927 in the total value of agricultural products, value $179,000,000; value of crops $117,000,000; value of live stock products $62,000,000. The valley lands in many parts of the state are unsurpassed in fertility, and almost all crops of the temperate zone can be successfully grown, except those classed as sub-tropical. There were 42,100 farms in 1920, an increase since 1910 of 36.7 per cent. Average size 198.9 acres, 107.2 acres improved. Tenants operated 15.9 per cent of the farms. Native-born Americans operated 35,284, foreign-born white 6,314, Orientals, negroes and Indians 508. Fruits of all kinds belonging to the temperate zone are produced in abundance, and their quality is unexcelled. Barley does especially well. There is sufficient water in the lakes and streams to reclaim the 10,000,000 acres of land susceptible to irrigation. Irrigation work to cost about $150,000,000 has been planned and work already done on the various projects to the value of $30,000,000. In 1920 there were 25,283 farms, or more than half of the farms of the state under irrigation. The arid plains that have been irrigated make fine wheat lands. Dry farming is successfully carried on in various parts of the state. It is estimated that about 10,000,000 acres could be made productive by this means.

Miscellaneous Crops (Leading States only):
Sugar-beets	285,000 tons	8		26,000	11.0 tons
Total estimated value of 22 leading crops		31	$84,675,000

On January 1, 1929, there were on the farms 2,110,000 sheep, value $26,440,000. The state ranks tenth in sheep, and seventh in the production of wool during 1928, production 17,885,000 pounds.

Industries. In 1925, there were 490 manufacturing establishments doing an annual business of $5,000 or over, a decrease of 180 since 1923, employing 15,794 wage earners. Annual value of products $96,989,661. ILLINOIS

State Capital, SPRINGFIELD

Illinois is bounded north by Wisconsin, northeast by Lake Michigan, east by Indiana, southeast and south by Kentucky, and west by Missouri and Iowa; extreme length north and south 385 miles; extreme breadth 218 miles. Total land area, 56,043 square miles. The surface is mostly level table-land, inclining gently toward the south, with bluffs along the principal rivers, A small tract in the northwest, around Galena, is somewhat broken, and a low mountain ridge extends across the southern end from Grand Tower, on the Mississippi River, to Shawneetown, on the Ohio, about 850 feet above sea level. The prairies are sometimes level, but generally undulating. There are over 275 streams in the state grouped into two river systems, one having the Mississippi as outlet, the other tributary to the Ohio river. The most important river is the Illinois which crosses the north central and western parts of the state draining 24,726 square miles. The climate is noted for its extremes of heat and cold.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 6,299,333; of this number 1,206,951 are foreign-born, 151,588 from the British Isles, Germans 205,491, Polish 162,405, Scandinavians 150,460, Russians 117,899. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 182,274. Urban residents 4,403,153, rural 2,082,127. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 3.4; of the foreign-born white 11.0; of the negroes 6.7.

Agriculture. Illinois ranked third in 1927 in the total value of agricultural products, value $922,000,000; value of crops, $448,000,000; value of live stock products, $474,000,000. Illinois is one of the leading agricultural states. Its prairie soils are deep, fertile and easily cultivated. A tract called the American Bottom, extending along the Mississippi River for ninety miles, about five miles in breadth, has an alluvial soil nearly 25 feet in depth and has been under cultivation for 150 years. There were 237,181 farms in 1920, with an average size of 134.8 acres, 115.1 acres improved. About 42 per cent of the farms were operated by tenants. Foreign-born farmers numbered 22,111. According to the 1920 census Illinois ranked eighth in the production of honey. The state produced 1,896,996 pounds, valued at $436,310.

INDIANA

State Capital, INDIANAPOLIS

Indiana is bounded north by Michigan and Lake Michigan, east by Ohio, south by Kentucky, from which it is separated by the Ohio River, and west by Illinois. Extreme length north and south is 276 miles, average breadth 140 miles. Total land area, 36,045 square miles. The greater part of the surface is undulating prairie land, with sand-hills in the north and picturesque rocky hills, some 500 feet high, in the south along the Ohio River. In the northern part of the state are numerous lakes and in the limestone regions of the south are many caves. Mineral springs are found throughout the south and south central parts. The Ohio and White Water River valleys are of sandstone and limestone formation. The soil for the greater part of the states is a loose calcareous loam of considerable depth. The climate is unusually equable with a mean annual temperature of 52 degrees F. and a mean annual rainfall of about 43 inches.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 2,849,071; of this number 150,868 are foreign-born, 20,612 from the British Isles, Germans 37,377, Poles 17,791. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 80,810. Urban residents 1,482,855, rural 1,447,535. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 2.2; of the foreign-born 11.8; of the negroes 9.5.

Agriculture. Indiana ranked thirteenth in 1927 in the total value of agricultural products, value $556,000,000; value of crops, $249,000,000; value of live stock products, $307,000,000. The soil as a whole is exceedingly rich, the north and north central parts, formerly rather swampy, have been drained and are now as productive as the south central. The most fertile part is the Wabash River valley and the least fertile is a sandy region, of small extent, south of Lake Michigan. There were 205,126 farms in 1920 with an average size of 102.7 acres, 81.3 acres improved. Tenants operated 32 per cent of the farms.

From U. S. Agr. Dept. Report, Dec., 1928.

Besides the staple crops, onions, cannery corn and tomatoes are produced. About 25,000 acres of peppermint are planted each year.

Indiana ranks twelfth in the aggregate value of live stock, value $182,000,000. On January 1, 1929, there were on farms: 2,904,000 hogs, value $34,900,000; dairy cows, 693,000, value $58,905,000; horses 517,000, value $42,395,000. Indiana ranks seventh in hogs, ninth in dairy cows and horses. In 1925 poultry numbered 17,355,369; poultry products were valued at $45,766,268; dairy products $34,667,574.

Fisheries. The fish caught during 1927 weighed 775,716 pounds, value $113,507. The most valuable catches were lake trout, white fish, lake herring and perch.

Industries. In 1925, there were 4,772 manufacturing establishments doing an annual business of $5,000 or over, a decrease of 137 since 1923, employing 280,854 wage earners. Annual value of products, $2,125,023,109. Some leading industries according to value of products are: iron and steel; motor vehicles; foundry and machine shop products; slaughtering and meat packing; furniture; electrical machinery; coke.

Minerals. The 1927 mineral production had a value of $107,578,000. State ranked twelfth in value of minerals. The principal products were coal, stone, cement, clay products.

General. Indiana has 1,827 rural mail routes serving 266,742 families. There are about 175,000 automobiles and 23,000 motor trucks on the farms. Over 23,000 farms have running water and 20,584 electric or gas lights. No state is better supplied with transportation facilities, as it lies directly in the path of almost all of the great trunk lines, which have branches exending into all parts of the state; and fully half of its borders are on navigable waters. There are nearly six hundred miles of navigable rivers and over seven thousand miles of railroads. Indiana is noted for its miles of fine hard surfaced roads.

IOWA

State Capital, DES MOINES

Iowa is bounded north by Minnesota, east by the Mississippi River which separates it from Wisconsin and Illinois, south by Missouri and west by the Missouri and Little Sioux Rivers which separate it from Nebraska and South Dakota. Extreme length, from east to west, 300 miles; breadth, 208 miles. Total land area, 55,586 square miles. For the most part the surface is that of a prairie table land moderately rolling. Elevations vary from 1,200 to 1,675 feet in the northwest to 500 feet and less in the southeast. The surface in the eastern, southern and southwestern parts of the state is generally rolling prairie, with no mountains nor any very high hills, but with frequent bluffs along the streams. The central and northern parts are the most level. While Iowa is generally known as an entirely agricultural state, there are about 2,250,000 acres of natural timber lands, situated almost entirely in the eastern portion of the state, and about 120,000 acres of planted timber. Most of the natural growth, however, is of little use except for fuel and fencing, the more valuable species having been cut off. The distinguishing feature of Iowa is its prairies, which are everywhere fertile and easily tilled and, having few stones or stumps, are especially adapted to the use of agricultural machinery. The valleys of the Red Cedar, Iowa and Des Moines Rivers are exceedingly fertile. The richness of the soil and the warm moist months of spring and summer make Iowa one of the leading states in agriculture and live stock. The climate is one of extremes of heat and cold with dry winters and wet summers. The mean annual temperature is 47.5°F. The mean annual rainfall is 31.42 inches.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 2,384,181; of this number 225,647 are foreign-born, 29,444 from the British Isles, Germans 70,642, Scandinavians 57,857. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 19,005. Urban residents 875,495, rural 1,528,526. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 1.1; of the foreign-born white 4.9; of the negroes 8.1.

Agriculture. Iowa ranked first in 1927 in the total value of agricultural products, value $1,081,000,000; value of crops, $566,000,000; value of live stock products, $615,000,000. The depth and porous nature make the fertile soil of Iowa capable of withstanding the extremes of wet and dry remarkably well. From 85 to 90 per cent of the land is subject to cultivation. Probably no other state surpasses Iowa in soil fertility. In 1920 there were 213,439 farms with an average size of 156.8 acres. 134 acres improved. Tenants operated 41.7 per cent of the farms. Native-born white farmers operated 181,100; foreign-born farmers, 32,201; negroes, 109.

KANSAS

State Capital, TOPEKA

Kansas is bounded north by Nebraska, east by Missouri, south by Oklahoma, and west by Colorado. Its length from east to west is 410 miles, and from north to south 207 miles. Total land area, 81,774 square miles. The surface is chiefly undulating in the east, while the western part has a rolling and varied surface, and until recently has been considered fit only for stock raising, but irrigation in some districts has redeemed nearly 50,000 acres, and rendered over 500 farms abundantly fertile. There are no mountains, very few lakes, and those small and shallow; no marshes, but salt marshes, and these are valuable. The bottom and table lands are chiefly a rich black loam, and highly productive. When the state was settled, only five per cent of the area was forest, and this was distributed mainly along streams and in occasional groves and small tracts; but it is estimated that the area of forest trees has since doubled by voluntary growth, transplanting, and by seed. The climate is warm in summer and severe in winter. The extremes are constantly modified by the winds.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 1,708,906; of this number 110,578 are foreign-born, 16,474 from the British Isles, Germans 23,380, Scandinavians 13,570. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 57,925, Indians 2,276. Urban residents 617,964, rural 1,151,293. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 1.6; of the foreign-born white 10.5; of the negroes 8.8.

Agriculture. Kansas ranked fifth in 1927 in total value of agricultural products, value $735,000,000; value of crops, $398,000,000; value of live stock products, $337,000,000. Kansas is primarily an agricultural state. In 1920 there were 156,286 farms with an average size of 274.8 acres, 181.5 acres improved. Tenants operated 66,701 farms, native white farmers operated 146,859 farms; foreign-born farmers, 17,189; negroes, 1,135 and Indians, 103. Within the past twenty years the growing of alfalfa has become one of the chief agricultural industries of the state and quantities of alfalfa hay are shipped to eastern markets. Alfalfa meal mills have been established and the product is valuable as a stock food. The 1926 crop of alfalfa hay weighed 1,786,000 tons.

Total estimated value of 22 leading crops		5	$371,290,000

Kansas ranks eighth in the aggregate value of live stock, value $239,000,000. On January 1, 1929, there were on farms: 766,000 horses, value $37,404,000; cattle, other than dairy cows, 2,130,000, value $99,470,000; hogs, 2,531,000, value $32,223,000; poultry (1925), 21,584,965. State ranks fourth in cattle other than dairy cows, eighth in hogs. State ranked fourth in poultry and ninth in poultry products in 1925. Poultry products (1925) had a value of $43,237,177.

Industries. In 1925 there were 1,878 manufacturing establishments doing an annual business of $5,000 or over, an increase of 92 over 1923, employing 46,659 wage earners. Annual value of products, $706,249,994. Some leading industries according to value of products are: slaughtering and meat packing; grain and flour mill products; petroleum refining, butter, cheese, condensed and evaporated milk; foundry and machine shop and planing mill products; cement; structural and ornamental iron; clay; lumber and timber products; salt; paper and wood pulp; furniture; food preparations; confections; men's clothing.

Minerals. The 1927 mineral production had a value of $120,369,000. State ranked tenth in value of minerals. Principal products were petroleum, zinc, natural gas, cement.

General. Kansas has 1,896 rural mail routes serving 276,816 families. In 1920 128,753 or 77.9 per cent of the farms had telephones. The live stock market and the meat packing industry at Kansas City, Kansas, are exceeded only by those at Chicago, Illinois.
